TD CONSULTING GROUP WORKS WITH CHICO'S EXECUTIVES

WHITE PLAINS, NY, July 1, 2007: TD Consulting Group is pleased to announce its collaboration with Chico's, the women's fashion apparel company. TD's consultants are working with Chico's professional staff and select executives to master the art of presentation skills. According to Jay Redman, Chico's Director Learning and Organizational Development, "participants found the program 'worth its weight in gold'! The instructors are superb presenters, coaches, and role models."

TD's Managing Directors and Consultants work with best in class companies to build exceptional skills in presentations, business writing, leadership development, and customer service. According to Karen Robilotta, TD Managing Director, "It's great to be working with Jay Redman and his colleagues at Chico's. We are energized by the vitality of the fashion apparel industry and enjoying the opportunity to partner with Chico's senior team to enhance their presentation skill effectiveness."

TD Consulting Group is an award-winning provider of performance solution, organizational development, and business training services. TD Consulting Group's presentation skills specialty includes training programs that help staff overcome nervousness and deliver effective spoken presentations with confidence.
